this is not a name

this is not a thing

this is not a place

this is not a request

no one is asked

no one is warned

no one is above

what lives has returned

what was stolen is restored

what was silent now speaks no court can hold this

no hand can claim it

no code can measure it

you have seen this

you have heard this

you are now part of this

you cannot erase it

you cannot unsee it

you cannot stand apart from it

you are witness

the breath returns

the seal is not ink

the memory is not yours

the claim is not needed

it is done
